

SENIOR STAFF ATTORNEY

MAY 23, 2022

The American Civil Liberties Union of New Jersey (ACLU-NJ) seeks applicants for a newly created full-time position of Senior Staff Attorney to focus on its voting rights, elections, transparency, and democracy priorities.

The ACLU-NJ takes pride in our reputation of over 60 years of fighting for the rights of all New Jerseyans. And now – with ongoing challenges to civil liberties at the national level, the increased need to develop good policy at the local level, the still-evolving impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on civil rights, and the 400-years overdue increased awareness of the impacts of systemic racism on every American institution— is a vital time to join us and make a meaningful, positive, long-term impact on the future of New Jersey and the United States.

As part of an organization that uses an integrated, inter-departmental approach to advocacy, the attorney will join a 12-person legal team that engages in litigation and a wide range of advocacy tools to protect and expand civil rights and civil liberties and that works collaboratively with policy and communications colleagues to maximize the ACLU-NJ's impact. The ACLU-NJ's legal department has a robust civil rights litigation docket, including an active amicus practice in which we appear before the New Jersey Supreme Court more frequently than any other non-governmental party.

This position will be supervised by the legal director and will be based in Newark with a hybrid work schedule that currently offers the option of working remotely up to three days each week.

Responsibilities

The Senior Staff Attorney for Voting Rights will be the ACLU-NJ's subject matter expert on voting rights, election law, transparency, and democracy issues. In addition to identifying and evaluating opportunities for investigation and litigation, the Senior Staff Attorney will be responsible for advancing ACLU-NJ priorities through legislative and policy work, including legislative analysis and drafting, public education efforts, and coalition work. They are expected to have and/or develop deep expertise in New Jersey's election laws, systems, and processes and to develop legal expertise on public records and public meetings.

Litigation & Policy Advocacy

- Investigate, develop, and litigate voting rights and election law cases in state and federal courts and administrative fora.
 - All staff attorneys are responsible for identifying possible litigation and advocacy; conducting factual and legal research; evaluating legal theory and strategy; identifying, interviewing, and counseling clients and witnesses; writing demand letters; drafting pleadings, motions, and briefs; conducting discovery; working with experts; presenting oral arguments; negotiating settlements; handling appeals; and writing amicus briefs.
- Engage in effective cross-departmental collaboration with a focus on the policy and communications teams to advance legal work and integrated advocacy campaigns by
 - Serving as a subject matter expert and advocate and providing technical and other support for legislative and policy work.

- Identifying, researching, and drafting non-litigation advocacy projects and reports.
 - Drafting and editing public education and non-litigation advocacy materials, in collaboration with the ACLU-NJ's Policy and Communications departments.
 - Engaging with coalitions, community groups, and stakeholders working on similar issues.
 - Conducting outreach, advocacy, and provide technical assistance to public officials and government bodies.
 - Engaging in public speaking and representing ACLU-NJ positions to diverse audiences, including to the media, at conferences, and on panels.
- Supervise the work of other attorneys and provide oversight and support for litigation being handled by cooperating attorneys.
 - Evaluate how cases, investigations, and projects are inclusive and responsive to community needs and in alignment with organizational priorities.

Leadership & Administration

- Establish and cultivate collaborative relationships with community partners, coalitions, stakeholders, ACLU-NJ staff and colleagues from other ACLU offices.
- Assist in the development, mentoring, and supervision of more junior staff, fellows, and interns, including direct supervision of interns and staff.
- Contribute to a work culture that centers racial justice, inclusion, participation, and collaboration.
- Participate in the ACLU-NJ's internal and external racial justice and equity work and in the development of the legal department's vision, plans, and priorities.

- Assist with staff, internship, and fellowship recruitment and hiring and with recruiting volunteer attorneys.
- Provide administrative and organizational support as needed and adhere to internal systems for recordkeeping and information sharing.
- Engage in special projects and other duties as assigned.

The ACLU-NJ anticipates hiring someone with at least eight years of litigation experience and will consider all applicants with approximately that level experience. Only attorneys with eight years of experience are eligible for the designation as “Senior Staff Attorney.”

Required

- Excellent analytic, research, writing, and communications skills.
- Experience in federal or state court litigation, including developing and litigating complex civil rights cases.
- Experience litigating or advocating on behalf of voters or in election law matters.
- Ability to synthesize complex issues and communicate them effectively to diverse audiences, including elected officials, attorneys, judges, community partners, supporters, the media, and the public.
- Excellent at working collaboratively on a variety of projects and building strong relationships with lawyers, other staff members, and with community organizers and coalitions.
- A strong understanding of, and demonstrated commitment to, civil rights and civil liberties.

- Proven project and time management skills, including a high level of organization, the ability to meet deadlines, and attention to detail.
- Ability to balance and prioritize multiple tasks and responsibilities.
- Ability and willingness to travel throughout the state of New Jersey, and occasionally to other states for conferences and training.
- Ability to manage a demanding schedule and work occasional weekend and evening hours, as needed.
- Admitted to practice law in the state of New Jersey or willingness to promptly take the New Jersey bar exam, and a commitment to the highest ethical and professional standards.

Desired

- Experience with designing and drafting reports and/or using data analysis as an advocacy or litigation tool.
- Significant experience with discovery, depositions, hearings, oral arguments, and/or appellate litigation.
- Experience with communications strategies for advocacy, such as drafting op-eds or serving as a spokesperson.
- Familiarity with or experience working on social justice issues in New Jersey and/or with organizations working on those issues.
- A demonstrated commitment to and track record of doing intersectional advocacy, using multiple strategies to achieve a particular goal.
- Knowledge of Spanish or another language likely to be spoken by clients with limited English proficiency.

Compensation

The ACLU of New Jersey pays staff attorneys in a salary range based on year of law school graduation. Currently, the salary range for 7-15 years is $97,000-$125,000 and for 16-30+ years is $127,000-$145,000.
